

School Approval Form

You have now received the approval copy of your Green Rose Books anthology of work written by children at your school.

If you would like to propose changes, please inform us within two weeks of receipt of this form. Amendments may be required in terms of formatting and artwork, but the text produced by the children should be representative of what they originally provided to us. We would be happy for you to make amendments to the printed draft of your book and return it to us.

By signing at the bottom of this declaration, you are stating the following:

- All work created by the children is original (not plagiarised);
- You have checked that the anthology book does not require any corrections or amendments, and hereby give your formal approval for the Green Rose Books anthology to be printed in its entirety;
- You can retain the approval copy free of charge;
- You accept and approve for the Green Rose Books anthology to be made available as a print book and e-book through external providers such as Amazon, Barnes and Noble, etc. once the purchase window has closed;
- You understand and accept that no royalties are due, payable, or owed to the child authors, their parents or to the school itself on any sales of the anthology, regardless of the number of copies of the anthology produced, printed, and/or sold.

When we receive your School Approval Form, we will make appropriate amendments. Once these have been completed (around 2 weeks), we will make the anthology book available on our website for parents to purchase at a reduced rate. This "purchase window" will remain open for one month. Following this, the anthologies will be printed and posted to the school. This may take up to two weeks

Once you have received your delivery of the Green Rose Books anthology, we will make it available through external sources such as Amazon, Barnes and Noble, etc. This can take up to two weeks and is dependent upon approval by external providers.
